PLANT PECANS.

Smith Co., Texas.

Farm & Ranch:

I want to see the farmers of East Texas plant out from one to five acres of paper-shell pecans this spring. Ten thousand farmers should plant out five acres each.

Our lands in East Texas are ideal for pecan growing. We see this demonstrated almost every day in the large pecan orchards in Smith County that are now bearing fine paper-shell nuts.

Pecan trees will bear in one and two years after they are budded: this has been demonstrated at the homes of Alex Woldert and Ellis Saleh of Tyler, and Dr. C. C. Nash of Palestine. R. W. Fair of Arp has a pecan tree that was budded last April a year ago that bore 104 nuts this year that run 44 nuts to the pound.

Every farmer should put out some pecan trees, and if he is not able to buy the trees, get the nuts and plant them and have them budded. The trees will not injure any growing crop until they get in full bearing: then they will be worth 10 times as much as any other crop he can plant. He will always have plenty of nuts for the family.

Pecan trees can be safely planted until March 1st.

Again let me urge the farmers to plant out pecans. Nothing will increase the value of your land more than a good pecan orchard, and it will also add comfort and beauty to the home.
